

JOURNAL OF LAW & FAMILY STUDIES

VOLUME 15

No. 1 2013

The Journal of Law & Family Studies (JLFS) is an interdisciplinary journal addressing a broad range of empirical and doctrinal topics concerning families, family relationships, and the law, and also explores issues in family and juvenile law as well as other family-related issues relevant to public policy. JLFS is published twice a year, and membership is determined by a summer writing competition.

JLFS makes every effort to conform to the following editing sources: THE BLUEBOOK: A UNIFORM SYSTEM OF CITATION (19th ed. 2010) and THE CHICAGO MANUAL OF STYLE (16th ed. 2010). The JLFS Board of Editors strives to maintain the text of published articles in its original format by editing only for accuracy and, where necessary, clarity. Views expressed herein are to be attributed to their authors and not to JLFS, its editors, the S.J. Quinney College of Law, or the University of Utah.

In addition to the rights to copy that are granted by law, the owner of the copyright of each article published in this issue, except as expressly otherwise noted, grants permission for copies of that article to be made and used for educational purposes by nonprofit educational institutions, provided that the author and journal are identified, that proper notice of copyright is affixed to each copy of the article, and that copies are distributed at or below cost.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The editors of the Utah Journal of Law and Family Studies wish to express their gratitude to the following: The University of Utah S.J. Quinney College of Law, the Journal Alumni Association, and the University of Utah Publications Council for their support; Dick Baldwin, Jared Forsgren and the staff of the Utah Law Review; Professor Laura Kessler, faculty adviser; Laura Skousen, editorial assistant; and the S.J. Quinney College of Law faculty and staff.

The Journal also gratefully acknowledges the American Academy of Adoption Attorneys, which held its symposium: The Future of Adoption in America in Salt Lake City, Utah. The symposium generated a number of thoughtful articles about adoption, several of which appear in this issue.
